

USAID Women's Economic Empowerment Community of Practice

July 2022

USAID Women's Economic Empowerment Community of Practice Members

The First Tier Members of the USAID Women's Economic Empowerment Community of Practice (USAID WEE CoP) are USAID staff and prime implementing partners managing nearly 100 activities in more than 60 countries. USAID WEE CoP First Tier Members increase economic growth by accelerating gender equality and by harnessing the full power of women as equal economic actors in their economy. Collectively, these activities increase gender equality in business operations and supply chains as well as in public institutions; strengthen the care economy; promote trade facilitation; spur investment; address climate change; support entrepreneurship and enterprise growth through access to markets, finance, and networks; influence legal, financial, and digital systems; reduce discriminatory governmental laws and regulations; improve employer policies and practices (such as closing the gender pay gap and advancing women into leadership and management); shift social norms by engaging men; and prevent, mitigate, and respond to gender-based violence in the workplace, household, and wider society. Through the USAID WEE CoP, members convene, identify, and share proven, promising, and potential models that advance economic growth through gender equality. Below are the prime implementing partners that have received funding from the Gender Equality and Women's Empowerment Hub (GenDev) in the USAID Bureau for Development, Democracy, and Innovation (DDI).
